Exclusive for BSL's Members

© WWF-Hong Kong

Discover the ecological wonders of Mai Po Nature Reserve, home to 7 out of 8 native mangrove species found in Hong Kong. This event offers an unforgettable journey through diverse wetland habitats, including gei wai, fishponds, mangroves, reedbeds, and freshwater marshes.

Led by an experienced guide, participants will walk through the largest mangrove stand in Hong Kong through a floating boardwalk. Explore from the Core Zone of the Mai Po Inner Deep Bay Ramsar Site to a bird hide on the mangrove's edge, and witness the incredible biodiversity thriving within the mudflats.

Let's celebrate the strength and resilience of women and appreciate the interconnectedness of nature and humanity on this International Women's Day with us. We invite you to celebrate with us and extend an invitation to bring along a female friend to join this occasion.
